The responses and revised manuscript are given concerning the sent and received E-mails as follows:

Sent Email:

Dear Megan Bryant
Journal Development Editor, Future Science OA

I have already sent you an Email as follows on 28 JUNE , however there was no response by the journal.

The authors of the manuscript are fully prepared to revise the manuscript according to the comments of the reviewers and the respected editorial team of the journal, and we believe that the revised version is likely to be accepted by the journal for publication. For this purpose, we are only asking for a week extension to prepare all the responses based on the comments. However, regarding the need to pay the publication fee, we have just informed that we are not able to transfer money or pay online due to the USA-imposed sanctions against IRAN, if this issue can be solved by the journal by ignoring the publication fee or in any other ways, we would be very grateful and pleased to go forward for preparing the revision and for publication in your precious journal.

Sincerely yours
Arash Minai Tehrani

Received Email:

Dear Dr Minai-Tehrani,

Thank you for your email.

Please do bear with us whilst we check in-house how best to proceed.

Thank you for your patience. I hope to be in touch with you within the next week.

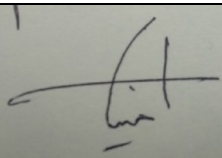

Best wishes,

Megan Bryant (she/her)
